In order to continue you need to login

Login

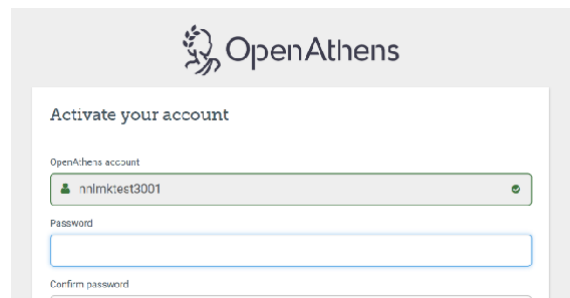

The NPHCO Public Health Digital Library uses OpenAthens for access. If you do not yet have an NPHCO Public Health Digital Library account, you can register here.

Having trouble logging in? Please email the phdl at phdl@umassmed.edu

Step 2. At the 'NPHCO Remote Access Self Registration' page, type your First and Last name, work email address and select "Washington Public Health Agencies". Select SEND.

Step 3. Watch for an OpenAthens email (check your junk folder). In the email, click the activation link.

Step 4. You will be taken to a login page to create your password. Note your username.

Once your password is created you should be all set! You can login using your username or email address.

When you are connected to VPN:

You do NOT need to use a login!

- Just follow the URL on page 1 and the PHDL will open
- You will be able to access all resources
- You can order articles through Document Delivery

When you are NOT connected to VPN:

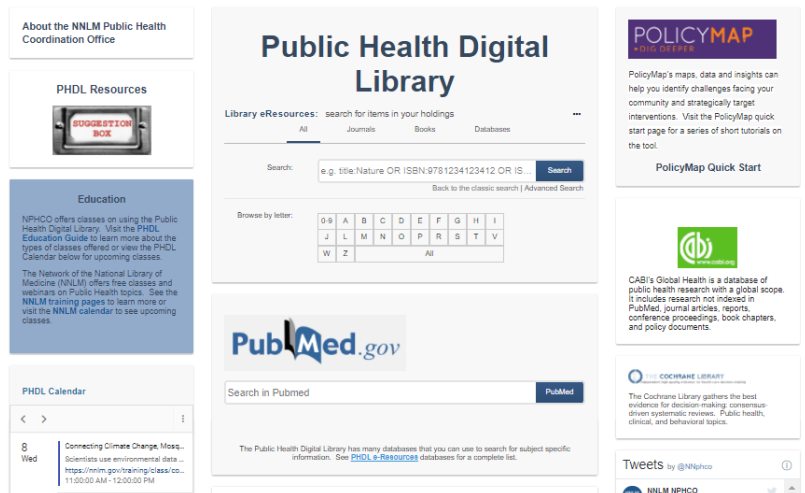

You will need to create a PHDL account and follow the instructions for Setting up your Account for other organizations above. Then you will log into your PHDL account to access resources.

How to Use the PHDL to Find Resources and Scientific Literature

There are several ways to find resources and scientific literature in the PHDL. Most people rely on PubMed as a starting place. There is a PubMed search bar on the PHDL landing page for your convenience!

You can also:

- Explore other databases like CABI's Global Health database
- Search individual journals
- Use E-Books by STAT!Ref
- Explore the Policy Map tool

What if an article I want to read isn't in the PHDL?

Good news! You can order articles through Document Delivery at no cost to you or your organization.

You can request articles not already available in the PHDL through the Document Delivery tool. Your request is sent to your Partner Library, the University of Washington Libraries.

There is no cost to you or your organization when you request through Document Delivery!

You will know that you need to submit a Document Delivery request if, when you select "Check PHDL" and it redirects you to a page that asks for Personal Information at the bottom so you can place your order.

To do this you will first need to complete a one-time registration form with UW Libraries. (next page)
