
Together for Health

You can have conversations about vaccines.

Here's what you can say.

Set yourself up for success and have a positive conversation.

- Be friendly and encouraging.
- Ask permission before giving health advice.
- Don't judge or criticize.
- Focus on health and safety.
- Remember that you're talking about it because you care.

Here are some helpful conversation starters.

“Would you like to share what you know about vaccines?”

“Have you considered getting vaccinated to prevent illness?”

“I understand you have questions. Can I provide more information about vaccines?”

“Did you know vaccines are a safe and effective way to protect yourself and your family from many illnesses?”

Talking about vaccines supports your community's health.

Click here to find vaccine providers near you.

Click on these links to find providers near you who offer free immunizations for children and uninsured adults.