

Colorectal cancer is the second-leading cause of cancer deaths in Washington. But it's also one of the most preventable.

Screenings for colorectal cancer can catch it early—when it's easier to treat. In Washington, only 68% of adults are up-to-date with colorectal cancer screenings. Talk to your provider about your screening options—like test kits you can do on your own.

Take control of your health.