

Like the Columbia River, your health is always moving.

Colorectal cancer is the second-leading cause of cancer deaths in Washington. But it's also one of the most preventable.

Screenings help you stay in control by finding colorectal cancer early, when it's most treatable. If you're 45 or older, talk to your provider about your options, like simple tests you can do yourself.